Uncle Sam a Spendthrift—Shook Part of a State Fire-Fighters Frost-Bitten—Terrific Gale in Great Britain—Fakir Hyams Dead.

Told in a Few Words.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Neither the beginning of the new year nor the failure of the currency bill has brought any material change to business as yet. The idea that business would suddenly take a new start after the holidays had rather less foundation than usual, but the hope of strong revival a little later is still cherished by many. There has not been much time for change in the industries, but differences observed since the year began are not in the direction of higher prices or larger demand. There are more indications than of late that stocks of different kinds of goods have been accumulating in consequence of past increase in production.

FOREIGN.

The meeting of the meat and cattle section of the London Chamber of Commerce has served to bring out a storm of jealous abuse of American meat and American business methods. The Daily Telegraph's statement that "the American beef kings, after half-raising British husbandry, now coolly propose to take an additional million from British traders and consumers," is repeated on all sides. Chairman Cooper, referring to the cost of meat, said: "The American has not to pay nearly so much for the carriage of meat as the Englishman. It costs less to bring a ton of beef from New York to London than it does to bring the same quantity from Aberdeen. The native producer is not placed on anything like a fair footing, and the American capitalists, realizing this, are making every effort to control the English market. We, however, feel that they ought not to be allowed to do so without a great struggle. I maintain that if the trade here sticks together they can bring the American importers to the old terms, because their meats must be sold."
